

Problem 18	Intercasing pressure
The essence of the problem	One well has inter casing pressure at a certain depth, which can lead to buckling of the production casing and griffins.
Technological parameters	It is necessary to identify the problem interval in the well and workover the well with quality isolation material.
Scale of the problem	This can lead to well failure, shut-in and long downtime, costly workover or well abandonment.