

Problem 16	Optimization of existing methods of combating complications and introduction of progressive technologies to minimize the impact of negative factors in hydrocarbon production
The essence of the problem	Formation of chloride salts on underground equipment, corrosion processes under the action of aggressive media, as well as clogging with mechanical impurities, which leads to a decrease in the overhaul period.
Technological parameters	Minimizing the impact of negative factors during hydrocarbon production
Scale of the problem	High operating costs at the producing wells